JEROME SPIKES REPORTS OF COUNTY TAX INCREASE

The state of California has been playing the old game of put and take with the counties, and they have come out just about even. The state returned operative property to the counties, but also took away certain taxable wealth. This trade, coupled with added burdens, has left the counties just about where they were

Aroused by recently published statements that city and county taxes would be 41 per cent higher this year, Supervisor W. C. Jerome today denied these statements emphatically, in addressing the board of directors of the chamber of commerce. At the same time he showed that despite the juggling of the tax base by the state, and despite a 35 per cent increase in assessed valuation, sand for county purposes than he paid last year.

Taking a concrete example, Mr. Jerome said that property assessed last year at $1000 paid a county tax of $9.20. The same property this year is assessed at $1350. But despite this increase, and despite added welfare and old age pension burdens, the same property this year will pay only 11 cents more in taxes, or $9.31,

He said that recent statements about a supposedly large increase in taxes were, in his opinion, the worst kind of publicity that could be broadcast. He also intimated that he believes it his duty to do everything possible to correct the false impression that actual situation.

Mr. Jerome recalled that when the state turned over operative property to counties for tax purposes, the move was hailed as a great relief to the taxpayer, but that when the juggling of the tax base was over, the counties are just about where they were before. Orange county got $17,000,000 in assessed valuation from the operative property. This will raise about $120,000 in taxes, he said.

This county with others, lost the right to collect personal property taxes on automobiles. The state returned 25 per cent of this tax base to the counties, and 121/2 per cent of the remainder to the cities, he explained. This, he said, explains the change in the tax base. But the burden in old age pensions, amounting to a sum estimated at $100,000 to $150,000 per year. The legislature reduced the pension age from 75 to 65 and also increased the maximum pension pay-

And this is not all, Mr. Jerome showed. The federal government, anxious to separate relief from labor expenditures, has issued a mandate that forces counties to assume a large burden for relief, which the federal government has been carrying. This will cost Orange county about $150,000 this year, he said.

Despite these added burdens, however, the property owner will pay only $9.31 per thousand in county taxes-11 cents more than he paid last year, Mr. Jerome said.

General membership meetings of the Santa Ana chamber of com-merce will be resumed on Sept. 23. Decision to resume the sessions on that date was reached today at a meeting of the chamber's board of directors.

It was explained by Howard I. Wood, secretary of the chamber, that it would be better to defer the first meeting until that date because of the fact that on Sept. 16, which also had been suggested, schools will be opening in Santa To avoid causing any complications at that time it was decided to select the later date.

The board today also voted to request the Southern California Telephone company to issue two directories per year instead of one. Numerous changes in telephone number during a 12 months' period would make a semi-annual directory more convenient, it was ex-

WESTMINSTER. - The annual reunion of pioneer families of Westminster is being held here to-day. Scores of old-timers with their young folk, many of them coming from afar, gathered here They came in automobiles, in contrast to the buggies, carts, spring wagons and lumber wagons that brought pioneers to church and other community affairs of early days.

Following their basket dinner at noon, when fried chicken vied in popularity with good old-fashioned apple pie, the assemblage settled down for an hour or two of speechhearing. Reminiscences of early days was the order of the after

IN WHICH WILLIE DECIDES A FEW THINGS

Guess what we found when we got to work today? A note—no, a letter, from Wagerin,

The rascal has been in hiding for three or four days but he couldn't fool us. We knew he was trying to figure out some complicated sports events such as who will win the Pacific Coast league chase and such.

We really shouldn't give the reprobate so much publicity, but maybe you'll get a laugh out of some of the things he's doped out.

'The Pacific Coast league," he says, "is going to be closer than 20 minutes to 8 c'clock. And San Francisco will win the second half and sail right through Jack Lelivelt's Los Angeles Angels for the title in the playoff. Mebbe you think this is reckless, but lemme show you how I figured it out.
"Portland, in second place, has a tough time ahead of them this week in Los Angeles. The Angels have always been tough for Bill Cissell's gang. San Fran-cisco, on the other hand, meets the Oakland Oaks and the Oaks never have been any stumbling block for the Seals.

"But where the pinch comes is next week when Portland takes on the Oaks. Early in the season when the Oaklanders got off to a running start they had lost only 10 games in the first three weeks. Six of these they had dropped to the Ducks. It has been that way right along since then. So, if the Portlanders stumble this week they will catch up next week and the finish will be tighter than a sailer or Sattighter than a sailor on Saturday night.

"The Cards," Willie offers profoundly, "can't be stopped now in spite of what that Column Left thinks of the Giants. They can't even be stopped in the world's serious. Nobody in the American league can beat the Cards, Cubs or Giants. Detroit, if you don't happen to know it, is leading the younger loop and will be when the checkered flag

"Coming around to the local situation, I think Santa Ana has made virtually its last stand in the series with Huntington Beach. The Oilers will win han-dily at their home lot tonight and sail on to the title. S'help there's nothing as can be done to stop 'em.

"I still string with Baer to lick Louis. Any guy what's got a new bride on his hands is likely to be inspired things. Of course, Louis is in love and about to be married, too, but bein' in love and wantin' to get married was what was the matter with Max in the Brad-dock battle. There's a lot of difference between bein' in love and bein' married. Pick Baer if you wanna be smart.
"And another thing. Where do you get that stuff about Gene Lillard? About him being a punk and not having a chance to stay up when he goes to Chicago next year? I've heard a lotta guys say you're as out of place a burp at a tea party with that crack commenced getting nasty at this point so we applied the scissors with accuracy and haste. In reviewing his outburst we noticed he had covered most of the important sporting events that are on tap and had saved us the trouble of deciding wrong on a lot of outcomes.

And as long as this is a day for prognostication we feel free to do a little of it on our own hook. Willie isn't a very astute student of wrestling so he probably won't challenge us if we predict that Nick Lutze will lick Ernie Dusek tonight at the Orange

The slain were Gregorio Pico alias Pete Navatoo, who allegedly instigated the shooting spree; Miguel Barron, 32, Francisco Perez, 55, and Carlos Sandoval, 28 Police said Pico became involved in an argument over a waitress and suddenly drew a knife, stabbing Joe Voster and Antenor Ortez. Voster suffered a wound in the left side and Ortez had a hand cut.

Then, rushing frenzied into the street, he accosted the three Mexicans and fired at them point blank. Perez and Barron died on reaching the local hospital and Sandoval died at Kern general hospital, Bakersfield. They had Italy entered the Ethiopian picture in 1882 when the Italian government bought the small port of Assab from an Italian shipping line which had acquired it in 1870 as a coaling station. In February. 1885, the Europeans took over Massua from Egypt. The Ethio-pians resented this, claiming Massua had been guaranteed to them as a free port. Italian efforts to advance inland were checked in January, 1887, when 500 Italians were ambushed and wiped out at Dogali. After a year of negotia-tions Italy withdrew most of her troops from her colony, which had been named Eritrea.

Benelik II proclaimed himself emperor and king of Ethiopia in March, 1889, a few days after the death in battle of King John who, with the encouragement of Great Britain had made himself master of the northern provinces and met death beating back an invasion by the dervishes of the Egyptian Sudan. One of Menelik's first acts, taken May 2, 1889, was to sign a treaty with Italy. As a consequence Italy occupied Asmara, now capital of Eritrea, and received Emperor Menelik's nephew, Ras Makonnen, father of the present emperor, as Ethiopian envoy

For three years relations between the two countries were quiet but then Menelik grew suspicious because the Italians seemed too friendly with the "rases," or local rulers, of the northern districts over which John had held sway. In February, 1893, Menelik pro-claimed that the treaty of May, 1889, was at an end. He claimed that the Italian and Amharic ver sions of the pact differed, the former providing that Ethiopia must use Italy as a means of commucating with other powers where-as the Amharic text made this step optional. An outbreak of hos-tilities followed.

The war lasted three years. At first the Italians pushed ahead but, as the Ethiopians rallied to a national cause, the Europeans were forced back. Additional troops were sent by Rome and on March 1, 1986, an expendition of 13,000 attacked Menelik, who, with 90,000 men, held a strong posi-tion near Adowa. One of the four Italian brigades pushed too far forward, was cut off and deci-mated. As the other brigades came up, they were successively surrounded and cut to pieces. The Italians lost 10,600. The Ethiopians acknowledged 3000 casualties but experts put them at 17,- Adowa ended the war of 1893-6. Italian reinforcements, sent to avenge the defeat, found that Menelik had retired and had no thought of following up his victory. So on Oct. 26, 1986, a treaty of peace was signed at Addis Ababa. It annulled the 1889 treaty, recognized the absolute independ ence of Ethiopia and provided for further pacts defining the fron-tiers of Eritrea and of Italian Somaliland. This outcome attracted world-wide attention to Menelik. Missions were sent from Russia, Great Britain and France, Menelik consolidating his realm and Ethiopia became a world nation.

Engagement Announced At Party

At a prettily appointed card party given in the family home at 523 Pine street on a recent evening, Mrs. Stella Hunt announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Doris Hunt, to Lee Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hamilton of Santa Ana.

The announcement came in the dessert hour, when a decorated yellow and white basket held cellophane sacks of candy. Inside the sacks the guests found cards inscribed: Lee and Doris, Oct. 6. Yellow and white pompom dah-lias lent added color to the home.

Miss Hunt was presented with a talisman rosebud corsage from Miss Viva Fickas, who shared in the hostess honors. Miss Kristina Nielsen gave several entertaining readings. Card tables were then placed for

Woman Remains True to Improvident Husband Although She Loves Employer

By MARY STODDARD

Not infrequently in a letter of advice from one reader to another is brought out an interesting life story. The white taffeta was worn by Miss confession of the reader is revealed in print in order to illustrate a point or stress a circumstance which should or should not be.

We find such a letter in the morning mail. It is from a wife who signs herself "Regretful," and seeks to clear the problem of the middle-aged business man who wrote re-

"A Reader" presupposes that be-cause John's girl fell in love with a married man she must neces-sarily be "bad." How absurd. She also assumes, by the same token, that the wife, because she is a wife, must be right. I think "A Reader" does not know quite as much about human nature as she, or he, thinks she does.

Let me quote my case. I consider myself—according to present day ideas of morality—a good wife, good mother, and a thoroughly "good" woman. I have been married 20 years—judging from which you can see I'm no infant, and fast approaching the middle age referred to by A

into the hundreds of thousands, Doheny was one of the most picturesque figures in the history

Members at Bedside

Members of the immediate Doheny family-his widow, a daughter, Mrs. Leigh Battson, and his five grandchildren—were at the when the end came.

While virtually in retirement for some time, Doheny was president of the Petroleum Securities corporation, his major holding, at the time of his death.

His fortune that a few years ago was estimated at around $300,000,000 had dwindled in recent times, yet friends said the oil king could not say within a sum of $6,000,000 the actual total of his wealth.

The story of Doheny is studded with peak accomplishments and not a few marked disappoint-ments. He won fame as the discoverer of vast oil resources, and notoriety as one of the key figures in oil reserve scandals of the Harding administration.

During his early oil drilling days, Doheny persuaded Santa Fe railroad officials to experiment with oil-burning engines. He was influential in the development of that type of locomotion, and his efforts dovetailed with his rapidly expanding oil interests.

Along about 1910 Doneny int the famous deposit just out of Tampico, Mexico, which brought into being the huge Mexican Petroleum company and the development of Tampico as a seaport.

At 44, Doheny had made his first million.

At 1916, long after he had built the first pipeline out of Mexico a line so-called experts labeled "absurd"—Doheny sank a recordbreaking well. It yielded 260,000 barrels a day until closed in. The field justified the pipeline.

In succeeding years Doheny's companies struck oil in new California fields, in New Mexico and South America, and his fleet of oil tankers was one of the largest in the world.

Past the 60-year age, Doheny was as energetic as ever, launching company after company, and it was not until 1925 that he began "letting up" a bit. It was at this time that he began centralizing his many holdings, and the post of vice president and general manager was created and intended for his son, Edward L. Doheny, II.

Machine Hits Pole Henry Gomez, 22, Seventeenth treet and Garden Grove road, was instantly killed at 11:30 p. m. when the car he was driving crashed head-on into a Pacific Electric trolly pole at the West Seventeenth street crossing.

According to a report made by highway patrolmen, Gomez was traveling west on Seventeenth street and went off the left side of the highway. A passenger in his car, Nick Rocha, 925 French street, Santa Ana, said Gomez had been drinking, and that he had attempted to force Gomez to stop the car. The body has been re-moved to the Harrell and Brown mortuary in Santa Ana pending an inquest by Coroner Earl Abbey.

Rocha was not injured in the Abraham Suniga, 42, of 924 Logan street, Santa Ana, suffered injuries yesterday afternoon when the car he was driving collided with a machine operated by James R. Caldwell, 40, Redlands. The accident occurred at Tustin avenue and Fairhaven road, north of Santa Ana.

INVITING TRAGEDY

COMETIMES we experience a spell of optimism and D think we are a civilized nation. We even treat ourselves to the delights of contemplating Christian fellowship. We lull ourselves into the sweet dream of brotherly love and imagine we are making progress, when-

The newsboys cry, "Mob Lynches Reds," "Huey Long Shot Down," etc. Then it is we wonder if human nature has been one bit strengthened by the ages it has lived.

Senator Long lies in a critical condition today as a result of his own invitation. Who, better than he, knows the old South and its radical tendencies when once aroused and constantly heckled? The senator's body-guard itself suggested attack, and his brazen indifference to law and order, encouraged the same attitude on the part of both friends and enemies.

Only the Master and His disciples-and not all of them-could have ignored the taunts and the crushing spoils system practiced by the Long administration. Human nature is still a fragile thing.

Congressman Jimmy Wadsworth, New York reactionary, says the weaker nation will suffer under the neutrality resolution. So will the munitions makers. Jimmy needn't worry. Neutrality or no neutrality, the weaker nation will suffer.

BREATHE—IF YOU CAN

DUSINESS MEN were assured by the President in a Brecent letter to Roy Howard, New York newspaper publisher, that the New Deal has perfected all its legislative plans and they are now to have "a breathing spell." Here are a few accomplishments of the recently-signed

1. Individual income tax-surtaxes increased in brackets above $50,000 and graduated upward to 75 per cent on income in excess of $5,000,000. Rates of tax on undivided profits of personal holding companies increased to conform to higher surtaxes. Estimated to yield $45,000,000.

2. Estate Tax-Estate taxes increased, beginning with 2 per cent on net estates above $40,000 and graduated upward to 70 per cent on that part of any estate which is in excess of $50,000,000. New gift taxes approximate three-fourths of new estate taxes. Estimated yield, $102,000,000.

3. Corporation income tax—graduated as follows: 121/2 per cent on net income up to $2000; 13 per cent, $2000 to $15,000; 14 per cent, $15,000 to $40,000; 15 per cent in excess of $40,000. Estimated yield, $35,000,000. 4. Capital stock tax-$1.40 per $1000 on declared value of corporation stock. Estimated yield, $44,000.000. 5. Excess profits tax—6 per cent on profits between 10 and 15 per cent of the declared value of corporation stock; 12 per cent on profits in excess of 15 per cent. Estimated yield, $10,000,000.

6. Intercorporate dividends—10 per cent of such divids to be taxed at new cornorati Estimated yiled, $29,000,000.

Beside these are the many important tax changes which must be made to balance the budget. Your great great grandchildren will be hearing about them. Breathing spell? Fetch the pulmotor, doctor.

We've already forgotten whether the Kellogg pact refers to treaties or breakfast food.

THE BATTLE IS ON

TT WAS a foregone conclusion that the upper counties I through which the Santa Ana river passes before it reaches Orange county, would try to checkmate Orange county in its efforts to restore its rapidly-disappearing water supply.

While Orange county has been trying to straighten out its internal troubles, satisfying this selfish interest and that, the people in the San Bernardino basin have been busy. We suppose they have their differences of opinion and their selfish interests, too. But from this distance and after a talk with various leaders in that territory, it appears certain they have acted as a unit to protect their own country and to outsmart us.

They were not caught napping either when the board of supervisors applied to the war department for assistance. Hardly had Orange county supervisors appeared in Washington before a formal protest arrived from the San Bernardino Valley Water Conservation district.

The upper counties know the great check dams they have built are depriving Orange county of its rightful share of water from the Santa Ana. They are fearful now that the flood control project may right the wrongs experienced all these years. Expressed in conservative and diplomatic language, yet carrying a world of meaning between lines, the Redlands Facts, the daily newspaper of Redlands, expressed the situation as follows in its Saturday issue:

"The Facts is in entire sympathy with the San Bernardino Valley Water Conservation District in filing protest with the United States authorities against allowing allocations for construction of Prado dam in Orange county until rights to the water have been determined in the upper stream. Orange county proposes to spend several millions of dollars in damming the Santa Ana river at the canyon near the Orange-Riverside county line. Upper basin consumers have made many developments for conservation of water and flood protection, and a moderate amount of new plantings. Orange county has planted out many times more acreage in a similar period. Should the Prado dam be constructed before projects under way and contemplated on the upper stream are completed, it is logical to suppose that Orange county interests might demand that no checking of the stream be made above that point. Therefore, it is only reasonable, first, to stipulate the rights of upper basin users."

The prophet warned them of the snare they were setting for themselves. Most solemnly and eloquently he would rivet chains upon them and sources. You can't get much inravage their fields and eat up their substance. Freedom would flee from the land and continual groanings would rise to heaven.

High cost of living in the United States makes it necessary for Paraguay to pay her minister to Washington four times as much as she pays her president.

When Howard Irwin comes in one door and Tom Talbert another it has all the earmarks of a political conference. The fact that neither of them met won't make any difference, if you want to deduce a political surmise. Howard Jimmy no you can't take any dirty central committee, just incidentally drifted in for a gab, while Tom drove up from the water clams and starfish in the garage front to talk politics and water and oil and business. Talbert was clams and startish in the galage come children wer'e going home now JIMMY JIMMY I told you he naturally drifts into the political county. He you couldn't take that kelp home with you now children mind knows most of the politicians in the state. What Talbert and Irwin "Have you seen Li'l Gee Gee's sun-tan swimming suit?"

"No. What does it look like?"
"Well in most places it look." said to me was unimportant, but

Most of the fellows I encountered Saturday forenoon took time to tell me where they intended to spend the week-end. All preparations appeared to contain the same specifications. They included water,
"Indeed, it's hard to raise a bromos and other fizzy liquids. And our stomach doesn't have a word to say about what we put into it-until after it is down Then look out for the protest later

> If the orange season closes along the early part of November in a blaze of profit, you'll see a much happier and extravagant Thanksgiving day.

> Admission day no different from most holidays. You try to get into the court house, the banks or title companies or city hall and you sheriff's office keep open all day.

Anaheim is to get a new postoffice. That isn't so important. Mister Mate, serve all hands an Who is to occupy it creates some

> Won't be long now before the dies will be startin' to school. When the collection of books be-gins and the books are not where you look for them, bet eight cents you say to mother, "I put 'em right there, and they are not there now." So after you continue the search for some time you will find

It doesn't matter so much whether the President says business is My expenses were $7200 over a better, or Babson or Sloane. Just ner.

Time out for lunch.

Back from lunch. Bought it myself. What was worth more to me than the lunch was the friends who gathered at my table for an exchange of business views, political ideas, and an occasional trace of philosophical conclusion. The variety made it interesting. Showed up the diversity of mental activity. Our party talked about orange prices, horse racing, politics, the South Seas, income tax, the water problem, and the ultimate destiny of the human race. I found out where some of 'em are supposed to go.

THE Securities and Exchange commission warning to school teachers against investing in a certain Tennessee sayings asset is like the classrooms thirty mil-ter under the wings of leering tythe money to go with him on a trip, sure the mutual fellowship would be satisfactory, but whether I would have any substantial evidence to carry on when the homeland was reached suggests a pause in the proceedings-guess I won't

Oh, well, I'll welcome tomorrow. When you close the places of ordinary business you close the news formation from a man when you can't talk to him. And when you try to push open the door of a public office, and get the greeting:
"Admission day. Legal Holiday," what you say is entirely presump-tive. In this connection two of my four friends have called my attention to a reference in this column that in estimating holidays encountered
